Description

RD&A is looking for Business Consultants who want to shape their own future at a young and dynamic company. Ideally, you have experience within the Asset Management domain and knowledge of how financial markets operate and financial instruments. Areas of work may include front office (portfolio management, OMS, EMS), middle office (risk and performance management), back office (cash management, settlement/clearing), or accounting and reporting

Responsibilities

As a business consultant, you will often work directly within or with the business processes of our clients, with a primary focus on process optimization, implementing improvements in processes, data flows, and systems, and guiding/coaching employees. Assignments are carried out partly at the client's location and partly at our office, allowing for extensive interaction with RD&A colleagues. In terms of content, the work typically revolves around the intersection of business processes and the IT applications that need to support these processes.

Qualifications

- Financial markets, instruments, and related processes
- Recognizing and translating improvement options into concrete requirements in terms of process/data/system
- Change management and processes
- Project-based work (Prince, Agile, SAFE)
- Specific knowledge and expertise within one of the fields such as Transaction Processing, Reconciliation, Accounting, Performance, Risk, Compliance, Data (Warehouse)
- Specific experience with systems such as SimCorp Dimension, Black Rock Aladdin, ClearWater, Murex, Golden Source, WSS, Charles River, Efront, FactSet, Bloomberg is an advantage
- Dutch (reading/writing)
- English (reading/writing)

Job Benefits

- A competitive salary based on a 40-hour workweek
- Excellent secondary employment conditions
- 25 vacation days
- Mobility allowance
- Personal growth and training
- Plenty of freedom and autonomy
- Opportunity to contribute to a secure financial future for many people
